

“Behavior Recognition for Attorneys”

This course is being instructed by Carl Maccario of the Center of Non-Verbal Communication which strives to create a center of excellence for dynamic behavior training through interactive classroom instruction, realistic scenario based training for the corporate world, law enforcement, public and private education institutions and the Department of Defense. This course for attorneys will focus on nonverbal communication and how valuable it can be to the legal profession. This course will reveal how to recognize and interpret nonverbal cues as it relates to client interactions, witnesses, depositions etc. and how it can aid attorneys in determining veracity, deception, and inconsistencies between the verbal and nonverbal cues.

Attorneys will learn a variety of scientifically sound nonverbal behavioral indicators that may be associated with deception as well as truthfulness. The workshop will also discuss the latest in effective questioning and interview methods that are extremely effective at exposing cover stories and lies.
